

FUEL SURCHARGE STATEMENT

Effective March 1, 2011

Due to the significant increase in the average price of unleaded gasoline and to freight carriers Dynamic Fuel Surcharges, V.i.P.S. will be implementing a standard $30 fuel surcharge to orders placed after March 1, 2011.

V.i.P.S.' fuel surcharge is set quarterly based upon the average price of regular unleaded gas reported by the freight industry and the fuel surcharges imposed to V.i.P.S. from the carriers.

Changes to the fuel surcharge are effective the first Monday of each quarter. The fuel surcharge applies to all orders tendered to V.i.P.S. regardless of destination or mode of transport. Additional weight charges, rural charges and beyond point charges may be applied. Premium service surcharges, administrative surcharges and taxes are excluded from the calculation.

"In our industry, the fuel surcharge is designed to manage normal supply and demand market forces of fuel, not temporary spikes caused by disasters," said Douglas G. Duncan, president and CEO of FedEx Freight, in a statement. FedEx has adopted a fuel surcharge calculation method for FedEx Express, FedEx Ground and FedEx Freight services based on the fuel prices published by the U.S. Department of Energy.

Please inspect your order carefully upon receipt for damages and accuracy. You must report shortages, errors or damages to at time of delivery so we may file a freight claim and arrange a replacement for you. Otherwise, we have no recourse with the shipping carriers and will be unable to issue refunds, credits or replacements for damaged or incorrect items.
